Fallingwater: A Place for Renewal

The Frank Lloyd Wright masterpiece, nestled in the lush, wooded Bear Run Nature Reserve, is a timeless monument to organic architecture at its absolute best. Learn how architect, client, and site came together to create a house designed for living in harmony with nature.

9:30 pm Walking Tour of Nemacolin Art

A walk around the Nemacolin Woodlands Resort is quite simply a study in world renowned art. From the walls to the grounds, art of various mediums: paintings, sculptures, furniture, glasswork and historical artifacts are showcased for guest enjoyment. Our founder, Joseph A. Hardy, III, has always shown a great appreciation for art and an even greater passion to share his personal collection with others.

Consisting of nearly 1,000 individual pieces and valued at over $45 million, the Hardy Family Art Collection graces all aspects of the resort—from common areas to the Presidential Suite.

The Collection includes artists such as Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec, Alexander Calder, Fernando Botero, Clarice Smith, Giampaolo Seguso, Frederic Remington, Tiffany Studios, Howard Behrens, J.J. Audubon, Frank Stella and more.

Golf, Spa, Children's Activities, Equestrian programs, Adventure Center, Off Road Driving Academy, Shooting Academy

Fallingwater www.fallingwater.org

Fallingwater, one of Frank Lloyd Wright's most widely acclaimed works, was designed in 1935 for the family of Pittsburgh department store owner Edgar J. Kaufmann. Perhaps better than any single work, Fallingwater exemplifies Wright's concept of organic architecture: the harmonious union of art and nature. Travel + Leisure Magazine describes Fallingwater as "one of 12 landmarks that will change the way you see the world" and a poll of members of the American Institute of Architects (AIA) named Fallingwater the "best all-time work of American architecture."

Kentuck Knob www.KentuckKnob.com

Kentuck Knob is an extraordinary mid-50's Usonian home, located in the breathtaking Laurel Highlands of Western Pennsylvania. The house is framed by spectacular mountain vistas. Its woods and gardens are interspersed with sculptures by famous contemporary artists such as Sir Anthony Caro, Andy Goldsworthy, Claes Oldenburg, George Rickey, Richard Serra, to name a few. Kentuck Knob is open for tours 7 days a week. Tours of the house are 45 minutes.

Poster Competition

This year the Pennsylvania Society of Gastroenterology (PSG) Annual Scientific Meeting promises to be an exciting educational program. We are delighted to announce the inclusion of a Gastroenterology / Hepatology Poster Competition as part of the meeting. This contest is open to all active adult and pediatric fellows in Gastroenterology and Hepatology programs as well as residents in Internal Medicine. Any topic related to Gastroenterology, Hepatology and Nutrition may be submitted. Recent national meeting poster submissions may be entered as well.

The judges are Drs. Henry Parkman, F. Wilson Jackson, and David Sass who will determine the winners of this competition. The top 17 abstracts will be selected for a travel stipend and will be displayed as posters at the meeting. The winners will be announced and recognized in PSG's fall newsletter. Participants are required to prepare their poster for display and must be available by their poster during breaks and judging in order to qualify for the travel stipend and awards. PSG will provide a 4'x6' display board, pushpins, and an easel. The top three prizes will be:

First Prize $1,000.00

Second Prize $500.00

Third Prize $250.00

Please submit your abstract to: Jessica Winger at 777 East Park Drive, P.O. Box 8820, Harrisburg, PA 17105-8820 or e-mail it to jwinger@pamedsoc.org by August 21.

Admission is free for all fellows in training.
